JOSH HILE

Senior Investment Research Analyst

Josh Hile joined Laird Norton Wealth Management in 2017 as a senior investment research analyst on LNWM's Investment Strategy and Research team. He is responsible for analyzing developments within the global equities arena, across all market capitalizations and regions, and providing investment recommendations to LNWM's Chief Investment Officer. Josh is also responsible for conducting ongoing due diligence and monitoring of asset managers, including mutual funds, separately managed accounts and limited partnerships.

Josh has nearly a decade of experience in the financial services industry. Prior to joining LNWM, Josh worked at Russell Investments in Seattle, most recently as a research analyst specializing in US equities, and prior to that as a portfolio implementation analyst. Josh started his career as a senior audit assistant for Deloitte in Orange County, CA.

Josh has a B.A. in Business Administration and an M.B.A., both from the University of Washington's Foster School of Business. He is Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and a Chartered Financial Analyst® (CFA®).
