NATHAN BARNARD

Investment Research Analyst

Nathan Barnard joined Laird Norton Wealth Management in 2018 as an analyst on the Investment Strategy and Research team. He is primarily responsible for sourcing, analyzing and recommending investment managers in alternative assets, including hedge funds and private equity. Nathan also prepares manager profiles and performance summaries.

Prior to joining LNWM, Nathan was a senior analyst at the Utah School and Institutional Trust Funds Office in Salt Lake City, Utah, a portfolio analyst at Leader Capital in Portland, Oregon and a senior research analyst at RVK, Inc., also in Portland. He has a decade of experience conducting investment research and analysis, asset manager due diligence and the sourcing and analysis of investment strategies in both fixed-income and equity asset classes.

Nathan holds a bachelor's degree in finance from the University of Colorado and is currently working toward a master's in Computational Finance and Risk Management at the University of Washington. He is a CFA® (Chartered Financial Analyst®).
